INTRODUCTORY.

THE South—by which we mean that portion of the United States lying between Chesapeake Bay, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Ohio River, and extending from Atlantic Ocean to the Mississippi River—is peculiarly notable among the favored regions of the earth in the attributes that attract sportsmen. In scenery it is grandeur itself, in climate “delightful mildness” perpetually fills the air, in extent of territory it leaves nothing to be desired, in transportation facilities it is not surpassed in America, and its hotels are many, attractively located, and well maintained. Its forests and mountains abound in four-footed game, its wooded uplands are the favorite resort of quail, partridge, woodcock, and the lordly wild turkey, its marshes and bayous are frequented by myriads of migratory wild fowl, and its crystal streams are the haunts of thousands of trout.

Throughout these States, scattered, but still within easy reach of one another, are hundreds of attractive towns and villages, where visitors can find the best of comfort and cheer, and which are the natural starting points for hunting and fishing parties during the open season.

Perusal of the following pages will show to all interested in sport what the South has to offer in this respect. The attractions of different localities are fully set forth, and such necessary information is added, as the nearest and best hotels, the available guides, facilities for obtaining teams, the varieties of game and fish found, the local game laws, and the names and addresses of residents from whom those interested can secure additional facts.

HUNTING AND FISHING

HOW BEST TO TRAVEL SOUTH

THE sportsman who desires to visit the South in the hunting season will find that every transportation facility that he can require has been supplied, that every luxury of travel has been provided. He can consult his own inclinations as to the section he desires to visit or the game for which he is in search. He is restricted only in respect to the sections frequented by the game and the dates of the open season. Reference to the following tables will show these facts and will enable the sportsman to plan a tour so as to cover the locality he wishes to visit and hunt over at the seasons when the sport is at its best. He can likewise select the localities where the game he prefers is most plentiful, and can make all his arrangements in advance through the correspondents whose names are mentioned in the tables. All local arrangements can be completed far in advance of the actual visit, and when the time comes to go he can rest assured that the transportation facilities are adequate and need cause him no thought.

The sportsman from the North will naturally travel to this section over the main lines and branches of the Southern Railway, which operates more than seven thousand miles of railroad, extending from Washington to Mobile, Ala., Jacksonville, Fla., Charleston, S. C., Greenville, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn. This splendid transportation line touches all the principal cities of the South, and reaches the seaboard at Norfolk, Va., Charleston, S. C., Savannah and Brunswick, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., and Mobile, Ala. At the first-named port it is in touch with steamers from the northern and eastern States, and at Mobile direct steamer connection is had with the West Indian Islands and Central America. Branch lines of the Southern Railway penetrate to all parts of the southern States, and reach all its favorite localities. At Washington, D. C., Lexington, Louisville, Ky., St. Louis, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., Greenville, Miss., Atlanta, Ga., and Selma, Ala., it is in touch with all railway routes north, east, south, and west. Close connections are made at all these points with fast trains, and the Southern Railway operates on its own main lines some of the finest trains in the world. The "Washington and Southwestern Limited," the "Southern's Palm Limited," and "Chicago and Florida Special," are unexcelled in their completeness and luxury by any of the famous fast trains of America. Junction points are frequent throughout the southern States, and particular attention is given to making close connections with the fast trains both north and south-bound. The needs of sportsmen—as well as those of the ordinary traveler—are carefully considered by the Southern Railway, which pays special attention to the careful transportation of hunting dogs and sporting paraphernalia generally, and makes special inducements to hunting parties to travel over its lines.

VIRGINIA

ADJOINING the well-stocked waters of Chesapeake Bay and extending westward to the Blue Ridge Mountains, Virginia's broad acres and wooded uplands should naturally be the delight of sportsmen. That they are so, and that they have been so since the first white man settled on the shores of James River, is an acknowledged fact. The "Old Dominion" has been the resort of sportsmen since its settlement, and here, probably to a greater extent than elsewhere in America, has hunting and fishing approached in degree and method the habits and customs of England. The landed aristocracy of Virginia filled its country houses with hunting parties in the days of George Washington, and stables of superb saddle horses and packs of fine hounds were the boast of many a citizen. Though at the present day hunting with dog and gun has taken the place of "riding to hounds," the sport is none the less popular in this section than it was in the early days of the United States. Game in Virginia is plentiful and of many varieties. The shy and retiring quail finds its natural habitat in the State, and there are besides partridge, woodcock, and wild turkeys. The graceful Virginia deer is found in several counties, and the smaller four-footed animals abound in many localities. The waters of Chesapeake Bay and its tributary streams furnish the best of fishing, and water fowl in enormous flocks frequent the bays and marshes. Trout are found in all the mountain streams, and native fresh-water fish make their homes in the rivers and lakes.

Virginia particularly appeals to the business man with a limited vacation period at his disposal, as its attractive hunting sections can be easily reached in a few hours from Washington over the Southern Railway, which runs direct to the best game districts. The main line touches the more important points in the State, and there are many branches that operate east and west to the shores of Chesapeake Bay and to the slopes of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Junction points are at Manassas, Charlottesville, Lynchburg, and Danville. Virginia excels in the excellence of its hotels. At Chase City, Va., the Mecklenburg management controls a private game preserve of 10,000 acres for the use of its guests. The attractiveness of the Mecklenburg preserves will be better appreciated when it is understood that the 1903 field trials of the Virginia Field Trials Association were held here. The roads of Virginia are excellent and well kept, and travel by other means than the railway is easy and convenient. Experienced guides are available at all points and trained dogs are kept at the more important and popular resorts. Hotel accommodation is particularly good, even at the smaller places, which have unpretentious but attractive houses, that make a specialty of caring for sportsmen and of furnishing them every facility for enjoying the sport. The Belleville game preserve, of 10,000 acres, reached by a fine drive of five miles from Drake's Branch, is a splendid property, attractively located, that is fully stocked with quail, turkeys, woodcock, and English pheasants. There are also a few deer. Quail and partridge are found in large numbers in the vicinity of Bealeton, Bluemont, Clarksville, Emporia, Fort Mitchell, La Crosse, Linden, News Ferry, and Somerset. The districts abounding in deer are in the neighborhood of Boydton, Broadnax, Chase City, Drake's Branch, Edinburg, Finneywood, Fort Mitchell, Jeffress, Lester Manor, Scottsburg, Spring Grove, and Tunstall. At most of these places quail and other game birds are also found. Rabbits, squirrels, and small game are to be found in practically all parts of the State. Along the Norfolk Division of the Southern Railway are many noted shooting points, chief among which are Clarksville and South Hill in Mecklenburg County. Appomattox and Buckingham counties are favorite localities for deer. Towns where deer are found in the vicinity besides those mentioned are Alton, Buffalo Junction, Burkeville, Charlie Hope, Claremont, Green Bay, Green Plains, Lester Manor, Mattox, Meherrin, and Pleasant Shade. As will be seen from the foregoing list, Virginia abounds in choice hunting sections, and these are all the better for the reason that they have been hunted over for hundreds of years, and the native guides have tradition as well as experience to guide them. The visiting sportsman will find in Virginia not merely a land of promise, but a land of fulfillment, a place where hunting and fishing are to be found at their best, and where the best places are of easy accessibility over a splendid railway and by means of well-kept carriage roads. Where time is an object the sportsman can find no better place to visit than this, and he will return fully satisfied with his experiences, and fully determined to repeat the experiment whenever opportunity offers.

A Few Spare Moments

GAME LAWS OF THE STATE OF VIRGINIA

SEC. 2070-a, approved May 14, 1903. When and how unlawful to hunt, etc.

WILD WATER FOWL.—It shall be unlawful for any person to shoot at, kill or capture any wild water fowl or wild turkey at any time during the night in this State, or at any time to capture them in traps, or nets, or other contrivances, or to use reflectors or other lights, or sneak boats, or artificial islands, in detecting or capturing or shooting of wild water fowl or game of any kind, or to hunt or shoot muskrats at night with a light in the tidewater section of the State, or to shoot at any game on land or water in this State with a gun larger than an eight bore.

WILD TURKEY, QUAIL, ETC.—It shall be unlawful for any person to hunt, kill or capture in any manner, or buy, offer for sale, or have in possession, any wild turkeys, pheasants or grouse, quail or partridges, or woodcock, east of the Blue Ridge Mountains between February the first and November the first, and west of the Blue Ridge Mountains between December the thirty-first and November the first, or to track or hunt any of them in snow, except wild turkeys, or to trap or net them at any time, or to destroy their nests, eggs or young at any time, or to kill chase or capture, or buy, offer for sale, or have in possession any wild deer between January the first and October the first, or to track or hunt them in snow, or kill or capture, or buy, offer for sale, or have in possession, any winter wild water fowl between April the first and October the fifteenth, or summer or wood ducks between January the first and August the first, or any rail, mudhens, gallinules, plovers, surf birds, snipe, except Wilson or English snipe, sandpipers, willits, tatlars or curlews, between January the first and July the twentieth, or robins between April the first and February the fifteenth.

It shall be unlawful to shoot or otherwise hunt any wild water fowl or any game bird, or game animal, protected by the laws of this State, later than an half an hour after sunset or earlier than an half an hour before sunrise, or to shoot or hunt any game in this State on Sunday.

The Board of Supervisors of any county shall have the power to shorten the open season in their said county, and may permit the shipment of wild water fowl from said county or out of the State, and by regulations, not inconsistent with the provisions of this section, may further protect the game within their county.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

SEC. 2070-C, approved May 20, 1903.

HOW NON-RESIDENTS MAY OBTAIN HUNTING LICENSES.—It shall be unlawful for any person not a resident of this State to hunt or kill wild water fowl, wild turkeys, pheasants or grouse, woodcock, partridges, quail, or other game birds, or deer within this State, until he shall have first secured a hunting license, as hereinafter provided; except that the non-resident child of a resident owner of land in this State shall be allowed to hunt on the lands of his parents as though he were a resident of this State; and the non-resident guest of a resident land owner shall be allowed to hunt on the lands of his host, as though he were a resident of this State, when accompanied by the host or a member of the host's family, provided said host receives no compensation, directly or indirectly from said guest.

HOW LICENSES ARE OBTAINED.—Upon the personal application of any non-resident to the clerk of the Circuit Court of any county in which he first begins to hunt, such clerk shall, upon the payment of ten dollars, issue to such non-resident a hunting license, entitling him to hunt and kill wild water fowl, deer, wild turkeys, pheasants or grouse, woodcock, partridges, quail, and other game birds during the open season in the six months next following, and subject to any restrictions imposed by the laws of the State upon residents.

WHEN AND HOW GAME MAY BE EXPORTED, ETC.—It shall be unlawful, except as hereinafter provided, to ship or transport, or cause to be shipped or transported, from this State, whether alive or dead, wild water fowl, wild turkeys, pheasants or grouse, woodcock, partridges, quail, or other game birds, or any deer or venison, killed or captured within this State, nor shall the same be killed, captured or possessed with intent to ship or transport from this State.

But any person authorized to hunt, under the laws of this State, may, during the open season, take with him out of the State, either in his personal possession or as his baggage, on the same conveyance with him, not in a closed package, but exposed to view, not exceeding thirty wild water fowl, fifty quail or partridges, ten pheasants or grouse, three wild turkeys, one deer, or plovers, snipe, sandpipers, willets, tatlars or curlews, not exceeding twenty-five of each, or not exceeding 100 in the aggregate, when killed or captured by himself; provided, the same shall be plainly labeled or tagged with the name and address of such person; and any citizen of this State may, during the open season, ship or have transported from this State, as a gift, and not for market or sale, so stating on the shipping tag, one deer during the season, and not exceeding three wild turkeys, six pheasants, twelve wild water fowl, eighteen partridges or quail; provided, that such game shall be shipped exposed to public view and unconcealed, and each parcel or package shall be plainly labeled or tagged with the name and address of the donor and of the donee, and the number of each of such game so shipped. This section does not apply to sora, or rabbits, or hares.

It is a violation of the law for any person to deliver any of the game herein mentioned to any common carrier or person for shipment or transportation out of the State, or for any common carrier or person to carry or transport or receive for shipment or transportation any such game in any other manner than is herein provided.

WHO A RESIDENT OF THIS STATE.—No person shall be deemed a resident of this State, for the purposes of this law, who shall not have resided within the limits of the State twelve months next preceding the time when the alleged offense was committed, unless he shall have, bona fide, taken up his residence in this Commonwealth, and has his bona fide domicile therein.

PERMISSION OF OWNERS OF LAND REQUIRED.—In order to shoot or hunt on the lands, waters, mill ponds, or private ponds of any person, which are enclosed, or the boundaries of which, or the streams adjacent to which, constitute a lawful fence, or on any lands, water, mill pond, or private ponds of another, east of the Blue Ridge, or in the waters on said land, under said laws, it is necessary to secure the consent of the owner or tenant, and in order to shoot or hunt on the lands or in the water courses comprehended within the survey of any proprietor of lands in the counties of Alexandria, Fairfax, Prince William, Stafford, and King George, and within five miles of navigable tidewater, it is necessary to have a license in writing from the owner or tenant of said land.

In addition to the above, there are various game laws applying to the different counties of the State, which, owing to lack of space, it is impossible to reproduce. Parties should, therefore, acquaint themselves with these local laws before attempting to hunt or fish.

HUNTING AND FISHING

NORTH CAROLINA

Eight to Eat.

OF greater variety in its physical contour than the other southern States, North Carolina presents a diversity that makes it attractive to all classes of sportsmen. The State may be roughly divided into three zones or belts. The first is the low level land along the Atlantic coast; the second the rolling country of the interior elevated plateau; and the third the mountainous part in the extreme west, which lies between the Blue Ridge Mountains in the east and the Iron, Smoky, and Unaka Mountains of eastern Tennessee on the west. These three sections display varied characteristics and are frequented by different varieties of game. Along the shores, in the deeply indented bays and grass-grown marshes, are all sorts of water fowl from the famous canvasback duck to the toothsome reed bird. Terrapin are also to be found in these marshes, and in the waters adjoining are many famed resorts of deep-sea fishes. Splendid fishing grounds are located at many places off the North Carolina coast, and whole fleets of fishing vessels are constantly employed in the sport. The interior section, which lies between 200 feet and 800 feet above the sea level, abounds in the smaller game birds, of which the greater number are quail. The quail of North Carolina are fully the equal of those of Virginia, and are frequently of bolder flight, for the reason that in the "sand hill" section the foliage is sparser and the country is more open. The best known among the hunting sections of the interior of North Carolina—aside from those in the mountain region—is probably Pinehurst, in Moore County. This village is charmingly situated in a fine shooting country. It has four excellent hotels. It is reached by a branch of the Southern Railway which leaves the main line at High Point, N. C., for Asheboro and from Asheboro to Pinehurst over the Aberdeen & Asheboro Railroad. In order to make Pinehurst attractive to northern sportsmen and to enhance its value from the sporting standpoint, Mr. Leonard Tufts, the owner, has acquired one of the largest game preserves in the United States. The tract embraces more than 25,000 acres of natural quail country, all immediately surrounding and in the vicinity of Pinehurst. A fine stable is maintained at the village and a large kennel of well-trained dogs. Competent guides are at the disposal of guests at the Pinehurst hotels. The Pinehurst preserves are maintained for the exclusive use of visitors to the village, and that the sport may be always of the best, Mr. Tufts has had planted throughout the more than 150 acres large patches of cow peas, which are left ungathered for the birds to feed upon during the shooting season. Because of this enterprise Pinehurst quail are not only kept in finer condition but are apt to be more numerous than elsewhere.

The mountain section of North Carolina, "The Land of the Sky," as it is called, is attractive for all classes of people; not alone to the sportsman, but also to the outdoor lover, the convalescent, and the invalid. The pure air and mild climate of this portion of the South has made it one of the most famous health resorts in America. In the center of this region lies Asheville, America's "capital of health," a city of about 15,000 inhabitants, with several splendid modern hotels and quite a number of smaller ones. Asheville is reached from the east by a branch line of the Southern Railway from Salisbury, and from the north through Cincinnati and Knoxville, and from the south and west via Chattanooga or via Atlanta and Spartanburg. Other notable points at which railroad connections can be made to and from the best sporting localities are Greensboro, Durham, Goldsboro, Charlotte, and Spartanburg. Two miles from the city of Asheville is "Biltmore," the magnificent residential property of Mr. George W. Vanderbilt, famous as being the finest estate in America, the residence a masterpiece of the late Richard M. Hunt, America's most famous architect, and the grounds having been laid out and beautified by Frederick Law Olmsted, the eminent landscape artist. More famous, perhaps, from the sportsman's point of view, is Mr. Vanderbilt's superb game preserve on Mount Pisgah, the largest and finest in America. This great forest is 100,000 acres in extent, and comprises every variety of country, from level meadows to towering and precipitous mountain peaks. Within this forest are some seventy miles of wagon roads, and more than 265 miles of trails, the latter mostly along the many fine trout streams of this noble domain. Surrounding this game preserve is a boundary fence more than 300 miles in length. The tract is in charge of a small army of game-keepers, who reside on the property, and who keep it in prime condition for the use of Mr. Vanderbilt and the guests at Biltmore. Magnificent as is this great private game park, it is but an insignificant portion of the shooting grounds of North Carolina. There are still open to visiting sportsmen hundreds of thousands of acres of woodland and mountain, and hundreds of miles of streams, brooks, and lakes within whose limits lurk the leaping trout and the other game fish of these inland waters.

One of the most noted regions of western North Carolina is the "Sapphire Country," which is reached from either Spartanburg, S. C., or Asheville, N. C., by way of Hendersonville and Brevard. Excellent hotels are found at lakes Toxaway, Sapphire, and Fairfield. These lakes are the finest bodies of water in the entire South, and are famed for their beauty, being surrounded by towering cliffs and cloud-piercing peaks. Lake Toxaway with its fifteen miles of shore may well be said to rival some of the European lakes as to size and beauty. The water is as clear as crystal and the lakes are kept stocked with rainbow trout from the hatcheries at Sapphire.

The visitor may go west to Waynesville and Murphy, north to the Tennessee line, or south to the borders of South Carolina, and find everywhere superb localities for the enjoyment of sport. Every variety of game for which the southern States are noted are to be found in the borders of North Carolina, and its many rivers, streams, and mountain brooks furnish lurking places for all kinds of fresh-water fish. Bass of large size are found in the Tuckasegee, Nantahalal, and Little Tennessee rivers, and off the seacoast, southeast of Goldsboro, the lover of salt-water fishing can take sea-trout, Spanish mackerel, blue fish, and red snappers with ease and satisfaction.

Bear are found in some of the more remote sections, such as Andrews, Bushnell, Robbinsville, Whittier, and Willetts. Sections where deer abound are in the vicinity of Bullock, Hendersonville, Oxford, Paint Rock, Robbinsville, Selma, and Whittier. Quail are abundant in practically all parts of the State, and partridge and wild turkeys in nearly all. Squirrels, rabbits, and opossum are frequently met with and raccoons are common.

GAME LAWS OF NORTH CAROLINA

After September 1, 1903, a non-resident who wishes to hunt in this State shall make application to the Clerk of the Superior Court for a license, which shall be given upon the payment of $10. This license expires at the end of the hunting season. (Private Laws, 1903.)

MOUNTAIN TROUT.—Code of 1883.—SEC. 1122.—Unlawful to catch mountain trout by seining at all times. And there shall be no taking of said fish by shooting or otherwise between the 16th day of October and the 30th day of December.

DEER.—Code of 1883.—SEC. 2832 (as amended 1893). Any person who shall kill any deer between the 31st day of December and the 1st day of October next thereafter ensuing shall pay a penalty of $50. (There are numerous county and local laws.)

PARTRIDGES, QUAIL, ETC.—Code of 1883.—SEC. 2834. No person shall kill any partridge, quail, robin, lark, mocking-birds or wild turkeys, between the 15th day of March and the 1st day of November. It is unlawful to kill partridge or quail in Currituck County between April 1st and December 1st.

EXPORTATION OF QUAIL OR PARTRIDGE.—SEC. 2835. No person shall export or transport from the State any quail or partridge, whether dead or alive.

HUNTING WILD FOWL ON SUNDAY, BY NIGHT OR WITH BIG GUNS.—SEC. 2837. No person shall hunt or shoot wild fowl on Sunday or on any day of the week after the hour of sunset and before the hour of daylight with gun or fire, or use any gun other than can be fired from the shoulder.

WILD FOWL, BLIND, BOX, BATTERY, ETC.—SEC. 2840. No person shall kill for sale any wild fowl in the waters of Currituck, New Hanover, and Brunswick counties between the 10th days of March and November of each year, or ship out of the State between said dates any wild fowl killed in the waters aforesaid; and no non-resident shall shoot any wild fowl in any of the waters of New Hanover and Brunswick, Currituck and Dare counties from any blind, box, battery, or float of any kind which is not on land at the time.

ACT MARCH 8, 1897 (as amended 1899).—SEC. 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person who is not a citizen of the State of North Carolina to hunt or shoot any wild fowl in the county of Currituck from any box, battery, or float of any kind not on land at the time. SEC. 2. Unlawful to shoot any wild fowl over decoys of any kind in the waters of Currituck Sound between March 31st and November 1st of each year; or to sell or ship out of the State any wild fowl between said dates. SEC. 3. Unlawful to hunt, shoot or capture any wild fowl on any Wednesday, Saturday, or Sunday between November 1st and March 31st, or to disturb any raft of wild fowl, and it shall be unlawful for any person either before or after they have put out decoys, to sail a boat after wild fowl in the waters of the sound for the purpose of forcing them on the wing, or to shoot them with rifle from any craft. SEC. 4. It shall be unlawful for any person to leave any landing or anchorage before sunrise in the morning for the purpose of hunting wild fowl, or to put decoys or nets into the water before sunrise, or to continue to hunt wild fowl after dark, or to place any device to frighten any wild fowl. SEC. 5. It shall be unlawful to sail, row or propel a boat over Currituck Sound on the Lord's day for the purpose of locating wild fowl for a future day. SEC. 7. It shall be unlawful for any person, hired or employed, to lie around, sail around, or stop anywhere near any citizen who may be gunning or fishing, for the purpose of keeping him from shooting or damage his shooting.

CHAPTER 245, LAWS OF 1899.—SEC. 6. That it shall be unlawful for any person to have more than one stationary bush blind standing in the waters of Currituck Sound between the hours of dark and sunrise, on any day between November 1st and March 31st. SEC. 7. That it shall be unlawful to skiff or ring shoot any boobies or ruddy duck between November 1st and February 15th. SEC. 8. All decked boats or float houses used for fishing must be anchored in the shoal water and west side of the Sound, not more than 300 yards from shore; or at some public landing on the east shore, between Chamb's Island and Powell's Point.

WILD FOWL IN CARTERET COUNTY.—SEC. 1. Unlawful to hunt wild fowl by firelight after sunset and before sunrise, or to use any other gun except that which can be fired from the shoulder

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

(except in Bogue Sound, west of Sally Bell's Shoals). SEC. 2. That it shall be unlawful to shoot wild fowl of any kind whatever from a battery or sneak boat from April 1st to December 1st.

SEC. 3. That it shall be unlawful to shoot wild fowl with batteries or sneak boats before the first day of December of any year. SEC. 4. That it shall be unlawful to hunt or shoot wild fowl with fire or light after the hour of sunset and before the hour of daylight, or to use any gun other than can be fired from the shoulder.—Act of 1899.

SUNDAY.—Criminal Code, 1893.—SEC. 258. If any person shall be known to hunt on Sunday with a dog, or shall be found off his premises on Sunday having upon him a shot gun, rifle, or pistol, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

YANCEY COUNTY.—Unlawful to take partridges or quail in Yancey County by use of any net or trap, or to export partridges or quail from said county.

ONSLow COUNTY.—Unlawful to shoot or kill deer in the waters of New River in Onslow County, or within 100 yards of said waters.

HAYWOOD COUNTY.—Unlawful to catch fish with seine or net of any kind whatsoever in the Pigeon River (from the township line between Clyde and Beavertown townships) in Haywood County to the headwaters of both the east and west forks of said river.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Unlawful to hunt with gun or dog, trap or kill in any way, any deer in Montgomery County for a period of five years (from February 8, 1901). Unlawful to shoot, trap or net, any partridges, quail, doves, robins, lark, mocking-birds or wild turkeys, between the fifteenth day of November and the first day of March.

CLEVELAND COUNTY.—Unlawful for any person to kill or net partridges anywhere in Cleveland County, and ship or carry them to any part outside of said county for profit.

CURRITUCK, CAMDEN, AND PASQUOTANK COUNTIES.—Unlawful to kill, shoot, net or trap any quail or partridges between the first day of March and the first day of November of each year in Currituck and Camden counties, and between the first day of March and the twentieth day of November in Pasquotank County.

ROWAN COUNTY.—Unlawful to kill or take in any manner whatsoever by trap or otherwise, any wild quail, partridge, grouse, pheasant, wild turkey, dove, robin or woodcock, before the first day of December, and after the first day of February following, in each and every year. SEC. 2. Unlawful to take or catch any fish of any kind whatsoever, at any time, by the use of seine, or by hauling or dragging any seine, in any pond, creek, branch or river, in the county of Rowan. SEC. 3. Unlawful for any person to have in his possession for use or sale or any other purpose, any of the game mentioned in this act, before the first day of December and after the first day of February in each and every year. SEC. 4. Unlawful for any person to sell, or offer for sale, any of the game mentioned in this act, at any time during the year within the limits of the county of Rowan. SEC. 5. Unlawful for any person to ship, beyond the limits of the county of Rowan, any of the game mentioned in this act, at any time during the year.

BERTIE COUNTY.—Unlawful to kill, shoot, trap, or net, any partridges, quail, doves, robins, lark, or wild turkeys, between the first day of March and the first day of November in each year; or hunt, kill, or shoot, any deer, between the first day of February and the first day of October in each year; provided, wild turkey-gobblers shall be killed as late as May 1st of each year, but not later.

MECKLENBURG COUNTY.—Unlawful for any person to net, trap, take, catch or in any manner destroy, any quail or partridges, between the tenth day of January and the first day of December in any year.

ACT OF MARCH 8, 1901.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to hunt with dog or gun, or kill any kind of bird whatever, upon the land of another person without first obtaining the permission of the owner of the land.

ROBESON COUNTY.—Unlawful to catch, trap or kill deer in the county of Robeson, at any time of the year except in November and December.

CASWELL COUNTY.—Unlawful to kill any deer in Caswell County for a period of six years (from the ninth day of February, 1901).

GRANVILLE COUNTY.—Unlawful to kill, shoot, trap or net any partridge, quail, doves, robins, larks, or wild turkeys between the fifteenth day of March and the fifteenth day of October in each year.

HUNTING AND FISHING

SURRY COUNTY.—Unlawful to hunt quail with gun, dog or trap, in the county of Surry, except during the months of December and January, and then only with the written consent of the owner of the land.

CABARRUS COUNTY.—Unlawful to shoot, kill, trap or net any partridges, quail, robins, larks, or wild turkeys, between the first day of March and the first day of December, in each year, or to have in possession between the said dates any quail or partridges, either dead or alive. Non-resident hunters must pay license tax of $10 to sheriff.

TYRRELL COUNTY.—Unlawful to hunt with gun or dog, or chase or kill any deer and squirrels in Tyrrell County between February first and October fifteenth.

TYRRELL AND BEAUFORT COUNTIES.—Unlawful for any person to catch or kill in any manner whatsoever, any deer at the time being chased by the dogs of another or the present possessor or possessors thereof. SEC. 2. Unlawful for any person to join in and hark dogs on a fleeing deer or the trail thereof being pursued at the time by the dogs of another, or the present possessor or possessors thereof, and thereby breaking off from the said trail the dog or dogs jumping and pursuing the said fleeing deer.

In addition to the above, there are various game laws applying to the different counties of the State, which, owing to lack of space, it is impossible to reproduce. Parties should, therefore, acquaint themselves with these local laws before attempting to hunt or fish.

SOUTH CAROLINA

SIMILARLY situated between the Atlantic Ocean and the Appalachian mountain range, it is but natural that South Carolina should present similar physical characteristics to its northern neighbor. The "Palmetto State" is not quite so mountainous, perhaps, in the western part, but this fact makes it more accessible and does not detract in any appreciable degree from the beauty of its scenery or the attractiveness of its sporting localities. Having a similar climate as well as similar physical characteristics, the same varieties of game are to be found in both States, and in equal profusion. If there be any difference it lies in the fact that North Carolina excels in fresh-water fishing and South Carolina in the salt-water variety of this sport. Water fowl are found at their best along the South Carolina shore, and Charleston, which is one of the seaboard terminals of the Southern Railway, is the headquarters for the best sea fishing to be had in the South, as well as being the starting point for most of the duck and water-fowl shooting parties during the fall. Shooting parties intending to visit the interior of the State leave the main line at Columbia, the State capital, which is the terminus of a number of the Southern Railway's branch lines. Columbia is the most convenient point in the State from which to reach the best hunting grounds. Other important traffic centers are Chester, Greenville, Blacksburg, Aiken, and Seneca. Favorite routes for sportsmen through South Carolina are those southwest from Columbia along the Savannah River, and northwest from the same point to Spartanburg. On the first-mentioned route are such well-known and popular resorts as Leesville, Monetta, Trenton, and Aiken. Between Columbia and Spartanburg are found Pacolet, Strothers, Carlisle, and Bonham. Between Columbia and Greenville are Newberry, Alston, Chappell, Greenwood, Abbeville, Hodges, Belton, and Pelzer. Quail is the most abundant game, being found in the following sections—in addition to those previously mentioned—Batesburg, Blythewood, Campobello, Clifton, Cowpens, Johnston, Fort Motte, Kershaw, Landrum, Lena, Orangeburg, and Pregnalls. Partridge and woodcock are found in the same sections, and deer are sometimes seen in the districts surrounding Tarboro, Claremont, Branchville, and Aiken.

GAME LAWS OF SOUTH CAROLINA

PARTRIDGE, DEER, ETC.—SEC. 431, of the act approved February 23, 1903. It shall not be lawful for any person, except upon his own lands, or upon the land of another, with the consent of the owner thereof, to net or trap a partridge; and it shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, or ship or export for sale, any partridge or quail, or deer or wild turkey, for the space of five years from the approval of this act; provided, that nothing in this act shall prevent the importation for sale of any partridge or quail; provided further, however, that the handling, possession, control or ownership of any partridge or quail, sold or offered for sale, or shipped or exported, shall be prima facie evidence of the violation of this section, and the burden of proof shall be upon any persons so handling, possessing, controlling or owning any such partridge or quail, to show that such partridge or quail was imported from another State or Territory. Any person violating this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding thirty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding thirty days.

CRIMINAL CODE OF S. C. 1902

DEER.—SEC. 540. It shall not be lawful for any person in this State to kill any deer, or to worry them with dogs or otherwise, with intent of destroying them, between the first day of January and the first day of September in any year hereafter, except in the counties of Clarendon, Colleton, Williamsburg, Marlboro, Kershaw, Horry, Hampton, Darlington, Marion, Beaufort, Florence, and Berkeley, in which counties, it shall not be lawful between the first day of February and the first day of August. Any person violating this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars, or be imprisoned not less than ten nor more than twenty days, which fine, if imposed, shall be recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction; one-half thereof shall go to the informer, and the other half to the use of the said county.

QUAIL, TURKEY, ETC.—SEC. 553. It shall not be lawful for any person in this State, between the first day of April and the first day of November, in any year hereafter, to catch, kill, or injure, or to pursue with such intent, or to sell, or expose for sale, any wild turkey, partridge, quail, woodcock, or pheasant, or between the first day of March and the first day of November, any dove; or at any time during the year to catch, kill or injure, or to pursue with such intent by fire-light, any of the birds named in this section; nor shall any person or persons destroy or rob the nests of any such birds. And any person so doing shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than twenty dollars, or be imprisoned not more than thirty days.

PHEASANT (Mongolian).—SEC. 554. Until the first day of January, 1905, it shall be unlawful for any person to catch, kill or injure, or to pursue with such intent, any Mongolian pheasant, whether upon his own lands or otherwise, upon penalty of not less than five dollars, or more than twenty-five dollars, or more than thirty days' imprisonment with labor upon the public works of the county.

SHIPMENT OF SHAD.—ACT OF S. C., 1904, makes it unlawful to ship shad fish beyond the limits of the South Carolina State boundary.

His Weight in Fish

HUNTING AND FISHING

"Catch, as Catch Can"

GEORGIA.

GEORGIA, while possessing the characteristics of the Carolinas in respect to low-lying and marshy lands along the coast, broad and rolling uplands in the interior, and rugged mountains at the northwest, still differs considerably from those more northern States. It forms the middle ground between the mountains that reach their maximum height on the borders of North Carolina and Tennessee and the level and alluvial land of the interior of Florida. In territory it comprises some eight million acres, the greater part of which is available to the sportsman in search of small game. Georgia has a somewhat lower average altitude than the Carolinas, and for this reason, and also because its slopes extend in a southerly instead of an easterly direction, its climate is somewhat milder than that of the States just north of it. During the hunting and fishing season the climate, though mild, is exceptionally agreeable. Transportation through the State by rail is excellent. Four of the main lines of the Southern Railway center at Atlanta, the capital, and a number of branch lines also start from the same city. These rail facilities make Atlanta the natural distributing point for the western part of the State. Augusta occupies a similar position in the east, and other prominent traffic centers are Macon, Columbus, Rome, and Dalton. Of game birds found in Georgia, partridge are by far the most plentiful. Rabbits, squirrels, foxes, and other small four-footed game are frequently met with, and wild turkeys and pigeons inhabit certain sections. Deer can be hunted in some counties. Trout, bass, and other game fish are easily taken in the mountain streams of the northern part of the State. On the main line of the Southern Railway, northeast from Atlanta, there is good rabbit and partridge shooting near the towns of Gainesville, Cornelia, Suwanee, Lula, Mt. Airy, and Toccoa. Going west and a little south of Atlanta, on the line to Birmingham, Ala., partridge are found near Winston, Villa Rica, Temple, Bremen, and Tallapoosa. Southward, on Fort Valley branch and the line to Columbus, the partridge's call is heard about the towns of Haasville, Kallulah, Piedmont, Topeka Junction, Culloden, Woodbury, Concord, Warm Springs, Shiloh, and Waverly Hall. Northwest from Atlanta partridge are thick along the Southern's line to Chattanooga, and excellent shooting will be found at Rome, Plainville, Sugar Valley, Carbondale, and Dalton, and other stations west on the branch line from Rome to Attalla.

GAME LAWS OF GEORGIA

ACTS, 1903; page 100.

CLOSED SEASON.—It shall not be lawful for any person to shoot, trap, kill, ensnare, net or destroy, in any manner, any wild turkey, pheasant, partridge or quail between the fifteenth day of March and the first day of November in each year; or kill, shoot, trap, ensnare, net or in any manner destroy any dove, marsh hen or snipe between the fifteenth day of March and the fifteenth day of July in each year; or to shoot, trap, kill or ensnare, or in any manner destroy any summer or wood-duck, or wood-cock, between the first day of February and the first day of September in each year; or to remove from the nests, or in any manner destroy, the eggs of any of the birds protected by this Act during the period they are protected, except as is hereinafter provided. It shall not be lawful for any person to hunt, kill, shoot, wound, ensnare, or in any manner destroy or capture, any wild deer or fawn between the first day of January and the first day of September in each year; or to sell or offer for sale, or have in possession during the closed season any bird or animal, or any part of either, whether alive or dead, that are protected by this act, during the period they are so protected.

BAITING DOVES.—It shall be unlawful for any person to shoot, kill, ensnare or trap, whether over baited grounds or not, more than forty doves in any one day. (The baiting of doves, or the killing of doves thus baited, shall be a misdemeanor. ACTS, 1898; page 107.)

KILLING OR TAKING FOR PURPOSE OF SELLING, LICENSE NECESSARY.—It shall be unlawful for any person, except on his own lands, to trap, net, kill or in any manner take, for the purpose of selling the same, any wild turkey, quail, dove, or deer; provided, that any person desirous to trap, net, kill, or take, for the purpose of selling the same, during the hunting season, any game mentioned in this section shall, before doing so, pay to the treasurer of the county in which he desires to operate the sum of twenty-five dollars; and upon exhibiting to the ordinary of said county the treasurer's receipt for the prescribed sum, such person shall have issued to him, by the ordinary, a license authorizing him to kill, net, trap, or take such game in said county with permission to sell the same; said license to be good during the hunting season of the year in which it is issued and no longer. Such person, at the time of obtaining said license, shall register his name and place of residence, together with a general description of himself, in a book to be provided and kept by the ordinary for the purpose. A license shall be procured and registration made in each county in which such person proposes to carry on such business.

EXPORT, NETTING AND TRAPPING OF QUAIL AND PARTRIDGE.—It shall not be lawful for any person, firm or corporation to export, ship or carry, or cause to be exported, shipped or carried, beyond the limits of this State any partridge or quail at any season of the year. It shall not be lawful for any person at any season of the year to net or trap partridges or quail, except on his or her premises during the hunting season.

POISONING FISH.—It shall not be lawful for any person to put walnut leaves, walnut hulls, devil's shoestring or any poisonous substance whatever in any of the waters or running streams of this State, such as lakes, ponds, eddy places in river or creek, which will be likely to drive away or poison the fish in said waters.

FISH: CLOSED SEASON.—It shall not be lawful for any person to catch or take any fish with seine, net or like device from any of the waters of this State, between the first day of June and the first day of September in each year; provided, that the provisions of this section shall not be construed to forbid the catching of fish by means of cast nets or with hook and line.

STURGEON: CATCHING PROHIBITED.—The catching of sturgeon in the waters of this State, with seine or other device, is absolutely prohibited for a period of four years from the seventeenth of September, 1903.

DYNAMITE: USE OF PROHIBITED.—The use of dynamite or of any other explosive and destructive substance for the purpose of killing fish is hereby prohibited.

VIOLATION AND PUNISHMENT.—Any person or association of persons violating the provisions of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. In all cases of arrest made for the violation of any of the provisions of this Act, the possession of game or fish, or of the eggs of birds protected by this Act, shall be deemed and held to be prima facie evidence of the violation of the provisions of this Act.

WARDENS.—Provision is also made for the appointment of wardens and deputy wardens to enforce the provisions of this Act and all other laws of this State for the protection of game birds, animals, fish, and other birds protected by the laws of this State.

PHEASANTS.—It shall be unlawful to kill, catch or injure any wild English, Mongolian, or other pheasant, or rob the nests, and take or destroy the eggs thereof for five years from November 30, 1900. ACTS, 1900; page 82.

OPOSSUMS.—It shall be unlawful to hunt or catch any opossums in this State between the first day of March and the first day of October. ACTS, 1897; page 101.

TRAPS, ETC.—It shall be unlawful to put any trap, wire, trot line, set line, or other like contrivance for catching fish for sale in any of the lakes or other waters of this State, upon or within the lands of another, without the written consent of the owner thereof. CODE, VOL. 3, SEC. 578.

WHEN SHAD SHALL BE TAKEN.—It shall be unlawful to take shad except between the first day of January and the twentieth day of April, except for spawning purposes; nor shall they be taken between sunrise Saturday morning and sunrise the following Monday morning. CODE, VOL. 3, SEC. 582-3.

MOUNTAIN TROUT.—It shall be unlawful to seine or net for fish in any of the streams in which mountain trout exist, or are placed. CODE, VOL. 3, SEC. 585.

OYSTERS AND FISH.—It shall be unlawful for any non-resident to take or catch any oysters or fish from the public waters of this State for the purpose of selling the same. ACTS, 1902; page 107.

FIRE HUNTING.—It shall be a misdemeanor for any person to hunt by firelight in the night time, or kill any deer so hunting, except upon his own premises, or with the full permission and consent of the owner of the lands upon which he may hunt. CODE, VOL. 3, SEC. 570.

SUNDAY.—It shall be unlawful to wilfully and wantonly fire off or discharge any loaded gun or pistol on Sunday, except in defense of person or property. ACTS, 1898; page 107.

POSTED LANDS.—It shall be unlawful for any person to hunt with dogs, firearms, or in any other way, on any lands, enclosed or unenclosed, of another, or fish with hook, seine, nets or in any other way in any streams, lakes, ponds, or lagoons of another, when forbidden so to do by the owner of such premises, or his agent, or the person in charge, or when such premises are posted. Posted lands shall be registered with the ordinary. ACTS, 1903; page 44.

WILD NON-GAME BIRDS are also protected. ACTS, 1903; page 98.

In addition to the above, there are various game laws applying to the different counties of the State, which, owing to lack of space, cannot be reproduced. Parties should, therefore, acquaint themselves with these local laws before attempting to hunt or fish.

HUNTING AND FISHING

"Good Boy!"

TENNESSEE.

THIS State, lying between the mountain chain that separates it from North Carolina on the east, and the banks of the Mississippi, presents the same diversity of contour that we have learned to look for among the southern States. It slopes, however, to the west instead of the east, and its bottom lands are along the Mississippi valley instead of the Atlantic coast. Both hunting and fishing are favorite and popular sports within the borders of this commonwealth, the latter especially so. The two great rivers, the Tennessee and the Cumberland and their tributaries, afford the finest of sport in the taking of perch, catfish, bass, and other species of larger fresh-water fish, which are caught in goodly numbers. Partridge, quail, and woodcock are common throughout the center of the State, and deer are found in some of the eastern counties. Knoxville, which is one of the chief cities of the State, as well as being one of the prominent railroad centers, affords excellent transportation facilities over the lines of the Southern Railway to all parts of the State, and there are a number of other points and junctions scarcely less important, among these being Memphis, Morristown, Chattanooga, Clinton, Cleveland,

Must Be Trout There

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

Harriman Junction, and Johnson City. Sanford, Riceville, Athens, Sweetwater, and Concord are convenient starting points for shooting parties. Between Knoxville and Bristol, on the northeast branch, are Rogersville, Greenville, and Johnson City. From the latter place a branch road runs to Linville, N. C., through the wildest of country and most charming scenery. Game is plentiful in the vicinity and the mountain streams abound in trout. From Johnson City to Cranberry, along the River Doe and on to Linville, and from this point on to Grandfather Mountain, a splendid carriage road passes through one of the most picturesque regions of the Blue Ridge. Grandfather Mountain is the highest peak of this range, and is the birthplace of innumerable trout streams. Many other peaks add to the attractiveness of this region which boasts the most charming climate in the South, and which possesses some of the best hotels among the southern mountains. Tennessee excels in wild turkey shooting, which splendid American game bird is recognized as the most magnificent winged quarry that can fall to the sportsman's gun. Quail, partridge, woodcock, pheasant, wild duck, red and grey foxes, rabbits and squirrels are also plentiful.

The general game law of 1903 has proven a great protection to the game of the State, and the reports received by the State Game Warden show that immense numbers of quail will be found awaiting the sportsman for the season of 1904-5.

The Tennessee law is unusually favorable to non-resident sportsmen, and such prominent gentlemen as Harry Payne Whitney of New York, Hobart Ames of Massachusetts, Herman B. Duryea, of New Jersey, Wm. Cooper Procter and J. V. B. Scarborough of Ohio, and others own large shooting preserves in this State.

GAME LAWS OF THE STATE OF TENNESSEE

OPEN SEASON.—ACTS of 1903, chapter 169. It shall be unlawful for any person to shoot, kill, or injure by any method or means whatsoever any of the game in this State, except within the time or seasons prescribed by this Act, as follows:

- "1. For deer, of any age or species, from October 1st to December 15th.
- "2. For grouse of any species, pheasants of any species, except English ringnecked pheasants, partridges, quails, meadow larks, and wild turkeys, from November 1st to March 1st.
- "3. For swan, geese, brant, ducks, river, lake, or sea ducks of any species, except summer or wood ducks, from October 1st to April 15th.
- "4. For rails, coots, mudhens, plovers, snipe, woodcock, sandpipers, tatters, willets, curlews, godwits, avocets, marsh blackbirds, and robins, from October 1st to April 15th.
- "5. For doves and summer or wood ducks, from August 1st to March 1st.
- "6. For English ringnecked pheasants, from December 1st to January 1st.
- "7. For squirrels, from June 1st to March 1st.
- "8. Rabbits may be killed at all seasons."

ACTS of 1903, section 6 of chapter 169.—No person shall kill any of the game animals or game birds mentioned in this Act in any other manner than by shooting them with a gun, and no person shall set any trap, spring trap, coop, snare, net, birdlime, deerlick, pitfall, turkey blind or pen. * * * And no person shall use any swivel or punt gun, or gun other than a gun held in the hands and fired from the shoulder, and of a gauge not larger than No. 8; or use any fire or light or other deception or contrivance whatever, with intent to attract, or deceive or to blind any of the game birds or game animals mentioned in this Act, except that decoys may be used in shooting ducks, geese, or brant; nor use any medicated or poisoned food to kill or capture any game; nor shall any person or persons shoot after sunset or before sunrise at any wild ducks, wild geese, brant, or other wild fowl, or burn any powder or other inflammable substance upon the feeding or roosting grounds after sunset or before sunrise, with intent thereby to kill, injure, or destroy any wild duck, wild geese, or other water fowl. There shall be no shooting or having in possession in the open air the implements for shooting on Sunday.

NON-GAME BIRDS.—ACTS of 1903, chapter 118. It shall be unlawful for any person to kill, catch or have in possession, living or dead, any wild bird other than the game birds; the following only shall be considered game birds:

The anatidæ, commonly known as swans; geese, brant, river and sea ducks; the rallidæ, commonly known as rails; coots, mudhens, and gallinules; the linocolæ, commonly known as shore birds; plovers, surf birds, snipe, woodcock, sandpipers, tatlers, and curlews; the gallinæ, commonly known as wild turkeys; grouse, prairie chickens, pheasants, partridges, and quail; doves, robins, bullbats, and meadowlarks.

LICENSE.—ACTS of 1903, chapter 169, section 9. Any person a non-resident of Tennessee who desires to shoot or hunt in Tennessee, shall first procure a license, to be issued by the State Game Warden, upon an application setting forth the name, age, occupation, place of residence, and post-office address of the applicant, and for the purposes of identification, his weight, height, color of hair and eyes, application to be made upon blanks furnished by the State Game Warden. The fee for this license shall be the same as the fee for shooter's license charged non-resident in the State where said applicant resides.

EXPORTING GAME.—ACTS of Tennessee, chapter 169, section 10. A non-resident desiring to take game out of the State may do so, provided he has a non-resident's license; he must make a written statement, duly sworn to, that the game intended to be taken out is not for sale, and will not be sold. He must present said license and sworn statement to some officer or employé of any transportation company by which he proposes to leave the State, and he must accompany the game.

FISHING

It is variously provided that it shall be unlawful for any person to catch, kill or wound any fish in many counties of Tennessee, by seine, trap, gun, grabbing with hands, gig, poison, or dynamite, or in any other way, or by any contrivance or device, excepting by rod, or line, or trot line; provided, that these prohibitions shall not apply to private ponds and to minnows not exceeding four inches in length, which may be caught exclusively for bait by dip net not to exceed six feet in length.

ALABAMA

AMONG the southern States none is more admirably situated than Alabama for purposes of sport. Extending from the southern limits of Tennessee to the shores of the Gulf of Mexico, its diversity is all that could be asked, and its winter climate is of such mildness and pleasant quality that camping is ideal, in fact, camping is recommended as being eminently satisfactory in every respect throughout the entire hunting country. Like the other southern States, Alabama furnishes excellent trout fishing in the mountain streams, splendid quail, partridge, and woodcock shooting in the central and the hilly portions, good river fishing in its larger streams, and the finest of wild fowl shooting along the Gulf coast. Ducks and geese are found in enormous flocks, their natural habitat being the marshy lands along the river bottoms, and among the shallow bays and salt-water creeks of the southern coast. Transportation facilities throughout Alabama are excellent. Birmingham, the great manufacturing center of the South, is just north of the middle portion of the State, and furnishes frequent and convenient service over the lines of the Southern Railway in all directions. Frequent junction points throughout the State permit easy and rapid intercommunication between the best hunting and fishing localities. Among such travel centers are Attalla, Anniston, Woodstock, Akron, and Selma. From the last named point the route to Mobile passes through a specially interesting country that is famed for the excellence of its hunting and fishing.

GAME LAWS OF ALABAMA

SUNDAY hunting or the shooting of firearms is prohibited.

Feb. 8, 1899.

WILD BIRDS NOT GAME.—SEC. 2. (All wild birds are protected except the English or European house-sparrow, kingfisher, cooper's hawk, sharp-shinned hawk, duck hawk, pigeon hawk, great horned owl and barred owl, green heron and night heron, and the birds for which seasons are given below.)

GAME BIRDS.—SEC. 3. No person shall kill any wild turkey, pheasant, grouse, quail, partridge, woodcock, prairie chicken, English, Mongolian, or Chinese pheasant, save only from the fifteenth day of November to the first day of March, inclusive. Provided, that it shall be unlawful to kill any Mongolian, English, or Chinese pheasants for a period of five years from the date of the approval of this Act; and provided further, that it shall be unlawful to kill wild turkey during the month of February.

WILD TURKEYS may be killed between November 15th and March 1st, both dates inclusive, except during the month of February, when it is unlawful to shoot or kill them.

DEER.—The shooting or killing of deer or fawn is prohibited except during the months of September, October, November, and December. It is unlawful to shoot or kill deer in the waters of any stream, pond, or lake.

EXPORT OF GAME.—The export shipment or carrying of game of any sort outside of the limits of the State is unlawful.

SQUIRRELS.—It is unlawful to kill black, fox, or gray squirrels, except from July 1st to February 1st; both dates inclusive.

GUN ONLY.—Killing of any kind of game birds or mammals, except with a gun, is prohibited.

In addition to the above, there are various game laws applying to the different counties of the State, which, owing to lack of space, it is impossible to reproduce. Parties should, therefore, acquaint themselves with these local laws before attempting to hunt or fish.

of the State. The river fishing of this State is excellent, many game species being found in its broad and sluggish streams and bayous. Transportation facilities in Mississippi are good. The Southern Railway from Birmingham, Ala., passes through the Yazoo Delta, and many points along the route are familiar to sportsmen. Among these are West Point, Columbus, Winona, Greenwood, and Itta Bena. The northern part of Mississippi is particularly attractive to sportsmen. In addition to the field and forest game birds, and the

THE excellence of the wild fowl shooting in Mississippi has passed into a proverb. The Yazoo Delta is the well-known winter home of the enormous flocks of these splendid game birds whose high-flying and closely packed masses are visible to the inhabitants of the eastern States on the occasions of their semi-annual migrations north and south at the turn of the seasons. The sportsman who seeks this variety of game will surely come to Mississippi, and will locate himself not far from the Yazoo Delta, whose gigantic flocks of wild fowl crowd its limits and overflow into all the surrounding regions. But it must not be imagined that wild fowl are the only game to be found in the State. Partridge, quail, and wild turkey will be found among the birds; and squirrels, rabbits, wild cats, deer, and raccoons among the animals. Occasionally bears and panthers can be discovered in unfrequented sections smaller animals—previously mentioned—bear, deer, and wild cats can be frequently located by the native guides. Among the places where these latter varieties are to be found are Baird, Indianola, Itta Bena, Mathiston, Moorehead, and Webb.

GAME LAWS OF MISSISSIPPI

DEER AND BIRDS.—CODE, 1892.—SEC. 1135, et seq. If any person shall at any time kill any of the kind of deer or any turtle dove, sometimes called mourning dove, or any starling, commonly called field lark, between the first day of March and the fifteenth day of September, or any wild turkey, or any quail, usually called partridges, between the first day of May and the first day of October, he shall be fined. The code empowers county supervisors to enact county ordinances to protect game, and such ordinances prevail over the general laws.

SUNDAY.—It is unlawful to hunt or fish on Sunday.

In addition to the above, there are various game laws applying to the different counties of the State, which, owing to lack of space, it is impossible to reproduce. Parties should, therefore, acquaint themselves with these local laws before attempting to hunt or fish.

FLORIDA

THE sportsman who seeks for ideal conditions of climate and temperature, and who likes to find abundance of game without hardship or discomfort — and who does not — will not neglect Florida in considering where to go for his winter outing. This wave-washed peninsula is perhaps better known to Americans as a fashionable winter resort, but its attractions for the sportsman are none the less powerful, and the State does not suffer in comparison with the more mountainous regions just north of it, while its enormous length of seacoast — more than 1,200 miles — gives it an extent and variety of salt-water fishing greatly in excess of the Atlantic and Gulf Coast States adjoining it.

The game animals, birds, and fishes of Florida are many and varied; the first ranging from the humble 'coon to the graceful deer, and even to an occasional bear; the second embracing both land and water fowls, from the humble quail to the lordly wild turkey, and from the erratic "jack snipe" to the superb mallards and canvas backs; and the third covering the whole catalogue of semi-tropical fishes from the gamy bass of the rivers to the majestic "tarpon" of the Gulf Coast. Transportation in Florida is easy and convenient, distances are not excessive, and outdoor life is ideal. Almost any part of the interior is quickly reached either from the east or west coast, or from the St. John's River, which cuts this narrow peninsula into two still narrower parts. The forests of Southern Florida are splendid natural game preserves, the numberless bays of the Gulf Coast swarm with migratory wild fowl, and the clear surrounding waters teem with beautiful and gamy fish. The sportsman or the angler who cannot be perfectly content in Florida is indeed hard to suit.

KENTUCKY

KENTUCKY has been famous for its hunting ever since Daniel Boone returned to the settlements and described its beauty of landscape and its wealth of game. The fierce resistance of the Indians to the encroachments of the white man showed that they too appreciated its resources and were loath to leave it. The aborigines have long since faded away from Kentucky's hillsides; and with them have gone most of the larger game. Bear are no more seen, though deer are obtainable in a few sections. The principal game birds of to-day are the partridge and woodcock, though others are frequently found. Lexington, just north of the center of the State, and Louisville, the chief city, directly west of it, are the principal railroad centers, the latter being the point of concentration for travel over the Southern Railway from the Middle West and the States bordering on the Great Lakes. Besides these two great railroad centers there are a number of others of considerable importance to visiting sportsmen who desire to reach the interior points. Among these are Lawrenceburg, Georgetown, Burgin, and Shelbyville. A few quail are found in the vicinity of Burgin and Shelbyville. Fishing is excellent throughout the State, particularly in the Kentucky River, in Elkhorn Creek, and in Buck Run, in all of which streams bass, catfish, and white perch are plentiful.

GAME LAWS OF KENTUCKY

DEER.—ACT OF Feb. 27, 1894, in effect June 12, 1894.—SEC. 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to kill any buck, doe, or fawn between the first day of March and the first day of September.

WILD FOWL.—SEC. 3. No person shall kill any wild goose, wood duck, teal, or other wild duck between the first day of April and the fifteenth day of August.

WILD TURKEY.—SEC. 4. No person shall kill any wild turkey between the first day of February and the first day of September.

WOODCOCK.—SEC. 5. No person shall kill any woodcock between the first day of February and the twentieth day of June.

QUAIL, PARTRIDGE, PHEASANTS.—SEC. 6. No person shall kill any quail, partridge, or pheasant between the first day of January and the fifteenth day of November.

DOVE.—SEC. 7. No person shall kill any dove between the first day of February and the first day of August.

SQUIRREL.—SEC. 2. No person shall kill any black or fox squirrel between the first day of February and the fifteenth day of June; provided, gray squirrels may be killed for protection of crops.

RABBITS, SQUIRREL.—SEC. 17. No person shall kill or pursue with such intent, or have in his possession when so killed, any rabbit, or squirrel, between the fifteenth day of September and the fifteenth day of November in each year; provided, anyone may catch rabbits with dogs, or in snares.

BIRDS.—SEC. 8. No person shall at any time kill any thrush, meadow lark, finch, martin, swallow, woodpecker, flicker, oriole, red-bird, tanager, cat-bird, blue-bird or other song or insectivorous bird, except when the same shall be destructive to the fruit or grain crops.

SALE OR TRANSPORTATION OF GAME, ETC.

SECTION 1. That it shall be unlawful in the State of Kentucky, at any time, to buy, sell, expose for sale, offer for sale, or have in possession for the purpose of bartering or selling any wild turkeys, pheasants, grouse, partridge, or quail, which have been killed within the State.

SEC. 2. That it shall be unlawful for any person, corporation, or common carrier to receive for transportation, or to transport, or cause to be transported, or to have in possession with the intent to transport, or to secure the transportation of, within or without this State, any of the birds or fowls mentioned in section one of this Act, which have been killed within this State. Provided, however, that it shall not be unlawful for such person, corporation, or common carrier to transport a hunter with his game lawfully killed by him within this State.

TO SPORTSMEN

A COPY of this interesting and useful book will be sent to any address upon receipt of four cents to cover postage. You may desire it for some one who is interested in shooting or fishing. In ordering the book, address W. H. TAYLOE, General Passenger Agent, Southern Railway, Washington, D. C.

DOGS

Provided with a suitable collar and chain to secure them, will be transported in baggage car at owner's risk, when accompanied by owners or caretakers on the same train (but not more than one dog will be received and carried for each passenger unless special arrangements are made in advance), at the rate of one-half cent per mile each, and 25 cents each for distances less than fifty miles.

Dogs in crates will also be transported in baggage cars upon above conditions and charged for at regular Excess Baggage Rates.

Between November 1, 1904, and continuing until March 31, 1905, dogs of sportsmen and hunting parties will be transported free, in baggage cars, over the lines of this Company when accompanied by owners or caretakers; but at their own risk.

Only one dog on chain or in crate to be transported free for each passenger; additional dogs on chain to be charged for at the rate of one-half cent per mile; for distances less than fifty miles, 25 cents each; two or more dogs in crates will be charged for at the regular excess baggage rates, and a credit will be allowed for one dog on basis of one-half cent per mile, minimum 25 cents as above, in order to allow one dog free with each passenger.

NOTICE

The game laws of the several States as shown in this book are given for the information of sportsmen, and while it is the purpose to
